PupLife Endorses: Dr. Bill's First Aid Kit

When it comes to Dog Health & Safety Products, we are always searching for great items to share with you. When we find them, we add them to the site and let you know right away. We recently stumbled onto a fantastic product that, even though we don't sell it on PupLife (it is not available for resale), we simply had to tell you about it. It's Dr. Bill's First Aid Kit.

Dr. Bill's First Aid Kit is the invention of Bill Bolton, a 1975 graduate of WSU's school of veterinary medicine. When Dr. Bill, his daughter and three dogs moved to rural north central New Mexico, he realized he was 40 miles from the nearest veterinary center. That meant having a top notch first aid kit was essential. So Dr. Bill set out to make the best first aid kit he'd ever seen.

This amazing first aid kit includes top notch veterinary items you won't find in other kits, including a hair trimmer, a digital thermometer and a handy quick reference manual. In fact, minor cuts, scrapes or the beginning of hot spots can be treated at home on a first aid basis. And, that is the primary intention of this kit. Of course, the kit is not a substitute for a veterinarian's care, but Dr. Bill's First Aid Kit is a great investment for any dog owner.
